U.S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE, Juanita M. Kreps, Secretary

NATIONAL BUREAU OF STANDARDS, Ernest Ambler, Acting Director

This second edition of NBS journals and other serials represents a total revision of the earlier (1976) edition,^{1/} both as to content and to citation form.

First, during the year past, the NBS Library Staff spent many hours updating, modifying and correcting previous records. Numerous cross references have been added and, for most entries, a Library standard for citation has been established.

Secondly, and more importantly, this edition is enlarged and considerably enriched by inclusion of journal and serial holdings of four additional NBS information centers. Thus the total contributors to this present volume include:

The NBS Library

The Computer Information Section
Institute for Computer Sciences and Technology

The Diffusion in Metals Data Center
Institute for Materials Research

The Fire Research Information Services
Institute for Applied Technology

The Standards Information Services Section
Institute for Applied Technology

Neither the Computer Information Center nor the Diffusion in Metals Data Center are staffed to provide interlibrary loan services to outside agencies. They do, however, provide on-site access for visitors to NBS.

You are invited to send your comments, suggestions, criticisms, and corrections to Mr. Marvin A. Bond, Chief of the Library's Resources Development Section. Mr. Bond can be reached on AC 301, 921-3405.

GUIDELINES FOR USE

CONTENTS

This NBS Serials List includes periodicals, journals, annuals, memoirs, proceedings and transactions of societies, "advances in," "progresses in," and selected conferences and monographs in the collections of the NBS Library.

In addition, as the Foreword indicates, this edition of the list has been enriched and expanded by the contributions of four additional NBS technical information groups who agreed to include their journal listings in this edition. We are delighted to have them participate with us.

FILING IDIOSYNCRACIES IN THE NBS LIBRARY

Often, the way a title appears in the card catalog is not the way the material is actually filed on the NBS Library's shelves. This is because card catalog entries follow formal cataloging rules, while the shelves are arranged by "key title" conventions (i.e., the title as it appears on the journal issues). Whenever such differences occurred, we selected the key title citation for this list and these key title citations appear without the double asterisks. Therefore, if you are looking for the publication of a society, look first for the title as it appears on the journal (remembering that a dash, "of", or "of the" will affect filing order). Should you not find it cited by title, double check under the name of the society.

The following conventions also affect the filing order of titles:

Initialisms and acronyms are filed as a group at the beginning of the appropriate letter.

Diacritical marks are not used; rather letters are substituted, e.g., "fuer" is used for "für."

Articles at the beginning of a title, regardless of language, are omitted.

Abbreviations may cause a title to appear in different positions in this list than in either the card catalog or on the library shelves.

LOCATION OF MATERIALS

An added note about materials location in the NBS Library - if no special collection code is indicated then the material can be located as follows:

Journals: 1970 and before, bound and shelved by call number.

1971 and later - may be either bound and shelved by call number as above or unbound and shelved by title. Try the unbounds first.

Other Serials: Shelved depending on frequency of publication. Most are shelved with books. The rest are shelved with bound journals.

If a special collection code is included in the holding statement, please consult the map at the entrance to the main reading area in the Library for the physical location of the collection. Should you experience difficulty in locating what you need, please ask a reference librarian for help. Resolving your problem may enable us to improve future editions of this list.

In answer to outside questions about our interlibrary loan policies:

"Do you ever lend journals?"

Yes, if it is a journal that does not circulate often within NBS. Loan period is one week. Such a request should not attempt to bypass CONTU guidelines pertaining to Sec 108G(2) of the Copyright Law (PL94-553).

"Will you take telephone requests?"

Only in a genuine emergency.

"Will you answer a holdings request?"

Again, only in a genuine emergency.

"Will you do a shelf check?"

Only if you or your patron are coming to the NBS Library the day you call.

"Why did you return my request unanswered?"

We don't want to appear uncooperative, but since we joined the Washington-Baltimore InterlibraryUsers Association and listed our serials in their list, requests for loan of our journals have increased 65%; our interlibrary loan staff has not. Therefore, we are being strict about some of our requirements:

1. No more than 1 citation per interlibrary loan form.
2. No more than 25 pages of a journal will be copied; if your citation exceeds this limit, plan to come here and do the copying yourself.
3. No more than 6 requests at any one time and no more than 12 requests per week.

4. Please request of us journals that reflect typical Bureau collection areas; i.e., not the few economics or psychology journals we may receive. There are more appropriate libraries for this type of borrowing.

"You said it was missing; when my patron visited your Library, he found it."

We try to maintain a turnaround time of 24-48 hours. We check the shelves, the circulation file and the check-in file once, and return the request with an answer. If for some reason you feel we have made an error, send a second request and attach a note asking for the attention of the interlibrary loan librarian.

You can help to keep our response rapid by following certain procedures:

1. If our journal list shows a call number, type it on your request.
2. Please give full titles for journals. If you abbreviate, we have to perform your function of verification.
3. Include a mailing label with your request.
